

Fines and Fees

Section 1: Fine Free Policy

Fines are not charged to accounts with overdue materials returned within 44 days of the due date, however, fees are still charged for lost or damaged materials. At 45 days after the due date, materials change status from “overdue” to “lost”.

Section 2: Lost or damaged materials

The member is responsible for loss of, or damage to, library materials. Most library material not returned to the Library within 14 days after the due date is defined as “long overdue” and a block is placed on the account that prohibits access to other library services. In the case of mobile wifi and Roku material not being returned within seven days of the due date, a block may be placed on the account. At 45 days after the due date, the item is considered “lost” and replacement fees are charged to the account. If the member returns the item free of damage and in circulating condition, the replacement cost will be waived; however, a $5.00 processing fee and/or collection fees will be the member’s responsibility.

Repeated instances of misuse or retention past the due date could result in the temporary or permanent blocking of the member from borrowing specific library material at the discretion of the Library Director.

Outstanding fees of $10 and more will prohibit access to other library services such as, but not limited to, computer access, electronic resources, self-checkout stations, etc.

Section 3: Collection Agency

In the event a member owes in excess of $50.00 in fees related to lost items, the Library may submit the member’s account to a collection agency and/or pursue legal action. For a minor’s library account, the parent or guardian is considered the member for the purpose of collection/legal action. If turned over to a collection agency, a non-refundable collection fee is charged to the member. If legal action is pursued, the member is responsible for legal fees and other costs of collection.
